YOU'VE FOUND IT.

WHETHER YOU'RE INVOLVED WITH ENSURING THE FUTURE OF A START-UP VENTURE OR THE SUCCESS OF A MORE SEASONED BIOTECH COMPANY, your legal concerns often center on two critical issues: acquiring the immediate capital to sustain your research and development efforts, and protecting the technology central to the success of those efforts.

At McCarter & English, LLP, we understand the complex world of venture finance. We also understand the specialized needs of the biotechnology industry. For more than 30 years, we've combined these two disciplines to offer our clients biotech finance and intellectual property experience on a national and international arena. Our attorneys have been involved in hundreds of initial public offerings, venture capital financings, licensing agreements and other capital transactions.

In addition to our core financing and Intellectual Property services, our Biotech Team offers specialized capabilities in certifying laboratories and manufacturing facilities; developing joint venture arrangements with leading scientists, universities and research institutions; and managing complex reorganizations, partnership and distribution agreements.

McCarter & English attorneys have counseled clients in many of the pivotal biotechnology transactions of the last three decades. Our partners offer personal attention and a practical, experienced approach to a highly specialized industry. If the need arises, our clients are always assured of access to the full resources our firm has to offer in areas of licensing, M&A, regulatory, employment, tax and real estate matters.
